Electronic Military Evaluations: Training Package

Section B: Specific Training Routing A Form

Specific Training Modules:

Sect A: Applying Signatures
Sect B: Routing a Form

As of 8 Sep 06:
The following slides provide step-by-step instructions for routing a form (in a variety of ways) within the AKO "My Forms" portal.
This portal is currently being redesigned to make it more user friendly.
Time for production? Unknown.
Once redesigned, you shouldn't need these slides.

Coming Attractions:

- The routing slip is being redesigned as you read this to make it more user friendly. Once the new form is in place you shouldn't need slides.

- The next iteration of this program includes report capabilities on the Tracking Sections. You should be able to search and group information.

- Finally, don't forget folders. What you see here for forms can also be used for multiple documents at time when they have been placed in a folder.

- See help links on the AKO My Forms Help tab and our website below under: what's new, electronic Evaluations. This isn't just OER & NCOER…. It's for all Army forms….

When sending the document as an Original, senders may also send a notification email to the recipient's AKO email address. If the AKO is forwarded to a work address, this email will forward also.

-To send this notification email, sender selects "email" & "Yes"

-If YES is NOT visible in this box when the form is routed, there will be NO email notification.

Extra Information:

1. Email notification might be helpful when just starting out … or with someone who only has to work with a few forms. Someone who checks the site daily or who works with lots of forms may ask for "no notification emails".

2. Microsoft Outlook rules wizards can be set up to send these

- If the AKO email is forwarded to a work place email address, this email will forward also.

If the sender used the “by email” option:

-This is what it will look like when the recipient opens their email. (the sender did not add any additional text or it would be in the actual email body.

-The “snap shot in time” document is attached as a read-only PureEdge document attachment.

1. At this time I know you can send both an original and an information copy to two different people at the same time.
2. Once you have sent the original document you cannot forward an information copy (because you no longer have the original.) If you are going to send an informational copy – do them first or at the same time.
3. I do not know if you can do all 3 types of sending. I haven't made it work on my computer.
